Earl Halsbury May Give Way to Sir R. B. Finley, and Marlborough May Succeed Cadogan.

LONDON, July 19.-Cabinet making is the absorbing subject of discussion here. During the week the public was regaled with more or less shrewd prophecies, but no intimations were given out by the inner circle of the intentions of the premier, Arthur J. Balfour, regarding the successors of the ministers who have already resigned or as to how far the changes in the Ministry must be expected to extend. It is undeniable that a large section of the Conservatives and Liberal-unionists are strongly dissatisfied with the Ministry as at present constituted and it is increasingly apparent that in spite of all the parliamentary eulogies of Mr. Balfour, many Unionists believe that a government of greater strength and capacity could have NEW YORK, July 19.-Within three been established with Joseph Chamberlain being better than Mr. Balfour's had he not sistance to Emperor William's efforts to entangle Great Britain in an alliance with Germany. It is asserted that many of the appointees do not reach the high standards previously maintained in the English courts. Earl Cadogan, the lord lieutenant of Ireand, probably will be succeeded by the of Marlborough, the Earl of Pem-

D., is on a visit to his old home. Father Hart spent two years and a half as chaplain to the United States forces in the Philippines. To-day Father Hart said:

"Yes, I was an army chaplain in the Philppine islands. I arrived in Manila in the month of March, 1899, with the Third Regiment, United States Infantry. I accompanied my regiment in their campaigns from Manila to Malolos, and later I was with General Lawton in his campaign from Caloocan through the northern province of Luzon to San Miguel and San Isidro.

"Obliged through ill health to return to the States in May, 1900, I went back to the Philippines in March, 1901, and was appointed to the Eighth Regulars, United States Infantry, then stationed in the province of Laguna, Luzon. I left the

I would place the number of native priests in the neighborhood of five hundred. "In giving this interview, I have as my chief purpose, to emphasize the attachment of the Philippine people to the Catholic Church, to show that the opposition to the friars by no means indicates opposition to the church. Nor do I, indeed, when I consider the history of the islands, throw much blame upon the friars. Circumstances over which they often had not much control led them into the present situation, but the situation exists as I describe it, and will exist so long as the friars will be there. "As to the fruits of the labors of the friars during centuries, the present high religious moral condition of the Philippines gives ample evidence. Their mistakes, I again repeat, were simply in being too losely connected with the Spanish government in maintaining and defending that government and in holding too long and too fast to their landed interests."
